Catherine Davis is the founder and president of The Restoration Project. She often partners with the National Black Pro-life Coalition, the Network of Politically Active Christians, and the Frederick Douglass Institute in an ongoing effort to educate Americans about the issues that are impacting the Black community. Catherine, a public speaker and civil rights champion, is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Tufts University who attended the University of Bridgeport School of Law. Early in 2010, she partnered with The Radiance Foundation to launch one of the most news-generating Pro-Life campaigns ever, the "Endangered Species" billboard/web campaign.

Susan W. Enouen is the Lead Researcher for Life Issues Institute, Inc., providing up-to-date published research on relevant pro-life issues in support of Life Issues Institute's educational mission. Her 2012 research, published in detail at ProtectingBlackLife.org, exposed Planned Parenthood's targeting of minorities by using census data to show that the abortion giant has strategically placed 79% of its surgical abortion facilities within walking distance of minority neighborhoods. Susan continues to expand her research in this area, including an update that reveals the minority targeting patterns of Planned Parenthood's new mega-centers.

Sylvia Johnson is the founder and Chief Executive Officer of Houston Pregnancy Help Center, Inc., which currently has three locations in Houston, Texas: Fifth Ward Pregnancy Help Center, Downtown Pregnancy Help Center and the Medical Mobile Van. These centers provide free services to over 9,000 clients per year resulting in thousands of lives saved since 2004. Sylvia has been honored with the Walt Disney World Award for Community Service for several years. In 1995, she was also awarded President George H. Bush's 839th Point of Light for community service.

Rev. Dean Nelson is a licensed minister, ordained pastor, executive leader, organizational consultant, political activist, and sought-after speaker. He currently serves as the National Outreach Director at Human Coalition and as the chairman of the Frederick Douglass Foundation and the Douglass Leadership Institute. He is the Senior Fellow for African American Affairs at the Family Research Council. He is married to the love of his life, Julia Nelson, and they have three children.

Patricia Sandoval's story of three abortions, work behind the hidden doors of Planned Parenthood, followed by nearly three years as a homeless drug addict, is a testament to the saving love and mercy of Jesus Christ and His desire to bring this world's hidden dangers into the light for healing. She shares her testimony in speaking engagements around the world, and her recent book Transfigured.

Bishop Patrick L. Wooden, Sr. is a prolific leader, builder and gospel preacher who has been saved and serving the Lord for nearly 40 years. He has been in the pastoral ministry for 34 years. He accepted Christ at the age of 16 and his life has been an example of what God can do when you give Him your whole heart at an early age. He attributes his success to God's grace, mercy and unmerited favor. He has been married to Pamela McNeil Wooden, who has served faithfully by his side for thirty-six years. They have two adult children, Crystal (John), and Patrick Jr. and three grandchildren.
